

CPL trials online course delivery

August 07, 2020

The health and safety regulations around the COVID-19 pandemic have resulted in the Centre for Professional Learning (CPL) having to suspend face-to-face courses and fast track the commitment the CPL had made to ensure that Federation members had a range of options regarding their access to professional learning.

During term 3, the CPL will be promoting a range of online courses through its website. Information about, and applications for, those courses will be uploaded to the CPL website during the remainder of term 3 and into term 4.

CPL's podcasts and Journal of Professional Learning (JPL) articles can be accessed at any time via the CPL website. Listening to the podcasts and reading JPL articles may contribute to teacher-identified professional development.

Please visit the CPL website (cpl.asn.au) regularly to see what courses and professional development opportunities are available.
